In October the Bishop's Waltham Society and the Bishop's Waltham Museum Trust will be publishing a fascinating new book about Bishop's Waltham.

The Changing Face of Bishop's Waltham traces the development of the town and the environmental changes that have taken place over the past 150 years, using photographs that are held by the Museum as well as Ordnance Survey maps going back as far as 1868. It is an attractive, lavishly illustrated book, 100 pages long, in A4 landscape format, using colour throughout, featuring 'then and now' scenes of many parts of the town.

From 15th October the book will be available at £15.99 from many retail outlets in Bishop's Waltham including the Museum, Post Office, Anvil Tea Room, Studio Four, etc. You are invited to buy the book before 10th October at the special discount price of £12.49.
